

It Takes Two To Talk

The Hanen 'It Takes Two to Talk' program is a family focused evidence-based program. The program is run by a Hanen certified Speech Pathologist and provides parents of children with language delays with practical skills and strategies to help their children develop early language skills.

In the 'It Takes Two to Talk' program, you will learn:

- How your child communicates and the next steps to take.
- What motivates your child to communicate.
- How to engage you child in conversations, even before he/she can talk.
- How to turn everyday activities into opportunities for your child to learn language.
- How to fine tune what you say so that your child can learn new words and ideas.

Who is it for?

Parents/caregivers of young children with:

- Language delays
- Developmental delays
- At early stages of communication and language development

The program is not recommended for parents of autistic children.

If interested, you will need to attend the 'It Takes Two to Talk' orientation session. This will provide information about what is involved in the program and how this program will benefit you and your child.
